Expressions of sorrow were heard on all sides Sunday when the news became known of the death of Ed J. Schumacher of the Schumacher's grocery store of this city, who had been sick less than a week and was only taken to the St. Francis hospital Friday. Mr. Schumacher had returned from a vacation trip of three weeks from Colorado, about ten days ago. Last Sunday Mr. Schumacher's lips became swollen and it was thought at first he had a boil. It received medical attention at once but infection set in a few days after and spread to one side of his face and his forehead, and his condition became alarming. His chances for recovery were considered rather doubtful Saturday and about 7 o'clock that evening pneumonia and nephris set in and he rapidly began to sink, his death occurring at 8:40 o'clock Sunday morning.

His father, Nick Schumacher, who is 82 years old, and his brother Frank Schumacher, were on a vacation trip to Green Bay, Wis., and were notified of his condition and afterwards his death. They will arrive in Maryville Tuesday morning.

He was a member of the Maryville Country Club, being its first member to die, and also belonged to the Elks lodge and the Knights of Columbus.

Mr. Schumacher was one of the most popular young business men in the city. He was very accommodating in his business, always courteous and always gave everyone a fair and a square deal. Such principles made him a legion of friends all over the county.

Mr. Schumacher was in the prime of life, being 37 years old. He was born in Maryville on August 14, 1885. He attended high school here and after school he commenced working in the wholesale house of Ely-Walker in St. Louis where he remained for one year, then returned to Maryville and finally succeeded to the management of the grocery store. SALE OF CHAUTAUQUA TICKETS PASSES 600

Is Desired That Guarantors Who Live Out of Town Get Tickets for Their Neighbors

One hundred and sixteen season tickets to the chautauqua were sold in Maryville Saturday, bringing the total of the sales to 592. This report was incomplete, since two of the workers did not turn in information as to how many they had sold. H. C. Todd, chairman of the guarantors, says that the sales have today passed considerably the 600 mark. Mr. Todd says that the large number of sales made Saturday was due to considerabel extent to the work done by the guarantors who do not live in Maryville. A number of these got tickets and sold them to their neighbors, whom they saw on the streets.

Mr. Todd points out that is desired that others of the guarantors who live out of town call for tickets at his office as a considerable portion of the sales from now on must be made in the country. Maryville has been pretty well covered and not a great many more tickets can be sold in town

The price of the season tickets after the price has been raised will be $2.75 in place of $2.50 as announced last week. This raise will be made with the beginning number of the chautauqua, unless the amount of the guarantee is reached before that time. In this case it will be raised when the amount of the guarantee is reached.

The chautauqua will begin Saturday afternoon with the talk of Homer C. Boblitt on "Is Farming a Business."

TWO BIG SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETINGS

ONE AT PICKERING AND OTHER AT WILCOX

OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

Dr. E. A. Miller President for 8th District and C. C. Leeson for 9th District

Two successful district conferences were held yesterday in the Nodaway County Sunday School Association. One, the Eighth district, was at Pickering and consisted of the Sunday schools of Hopkins and Union townships and the other, the Ninth District, was at Wilcox and consisted of the Sunday schools in Polk township.

The opening session at Pickering was held at 11 o'clock in the morning at the Methodist Church, after the Sunday schools had met at their respective churches in separate sessions. Prof. Harry A. Miller of the State Teachers College was the speaker. He gave a good and much appreciated talk on the Christian life. The devotional service was conducted by J. W. Geyer, superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school at Pickering and superintendent of the Pickering schools.

Following Professor Miller's speech a basket dinner was served under the shade of the large trees at the south and rear of the church grounds.

The afternoon services were started with a devotional period, led by Frank Barrett of Skidmore, administration superintendent for the county. After this Dr. E. A. Miller of Hopkins, vice-president of the district, took charge. Next came the divisional conferences under the leadership of the following persons: Miss Ruth Hopple, children's division; Clyde Melvin, young people's division; Mrs. D. A. Sargeant, administration division, and Mrs. John Morehouse, adult and home.

After the divisional sessions came a program, given by representatives of the various Sunday schools of the two townships. It was as follows:

Reading—Ruth Pistole.

Reading—Elmer Scott, Pickering.

Then came the business session and the taking of the standard of the various Sunday schools in the district.

Following the business session was the election and installation of officers for the coming year. The officers were as follows: President, Dr. E. A. Miller, Hopkins; vice-president, O. G. The church at Pickering was filled for both the morning and afternoon session. A good-sized crowd had their dinners, consisting of fried chicken and the things that go with it along with plenty of fine pie and cake.

The sessions at Wilcox began at the same time as those at Pickering with President Uel W. Lamkin of the State Teachers College making the address. President Lamkin's talk was along the line of correct Christian instruction for the young people in the building of government. He believes that if the heart is right that everything else will be all right. Get the hearts of the people of a nation right and there will be no need to fear for either the people or the nation. Correct instruction and training for the young folks of the nation will make the hearts right.

Following President Lamkin's talk a basket dinner was served in the yard of the Christian Church and it was a bountious one.

COX SPEAKS AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

ANOTHER DARK AGE?

Says Get at Spiritual Side by Working Through Physical—"Soap Soup and Salvation"

The Rev. Gilbert S. Cox spoke last night at the First Methodist Church to the largest audience gathered at the church in Maryville for some time. Motor cars parking space was scarce anywhere within a block of the church.

Mr. Cox believes that the world is passing now through a critical stage and that it is probably that we are on the verge of retrogation and that we may enter again one of those dark ages of history. But he takes an optimstic view point. He says he believes that if such a thing does happen some one class of the world will carry through these ages some of the good things and ideals that the world today has and that things will be better in the long run than they were before. Mr. Cox indicated in his sermon that he believed this stage could be warded off if the people would take the right attitude.

The best time for the training of people for Christian work is when they are young, he said. Conversions are made between the ages of twelve and eighteen yars.

The importance of the physical side of life is not stressed enough along with the spiritual. One of the religious organizations of Mr. Cox's town, Columbus, O., has as its motto "Soap, soup and salvation." Get the physical man right and you will have less trouble reaching the spiritual man.

Mr. Cox stressed strongly the correction of physical defects in young folks. He said that many of the criminals of the country are criminal because of physical defects. The boy who is bad in school is probably that way because of some defect. He may not be able to see as well as the rest of the children or he may not be able to hear as well. For these reasons he is branded as unruly. He goes through life this way and he may make a criminal. In this Mr. Cox brought out the point that the Nodaway County Health department has been drilling on since its establishment the first of the year.

Mr. Cox was formerly pastor of the First Methodist church here and is especially popular with Maryville people.

PRIMARY ELECTION TO BE TOMORROW

POLLS TO OPEN AT 6 A. M. AND CLOSE AT SUN DOWN.

WEATHER FORCAST FAIR

Large Vote Is Expected in the Democratic Primary—Republican Vote Light.

Where They Will Vote in Maryville.

Fourth Ward, Precinct A—At Kelley hotel on East Third street.

Third ward, Precinct B — At Brumbaugh's battery shop, corner First and Main streets.

First ward, Precinct D—In Captain Hyslop's office on East Fourth street.

The primary election will be held tomorrow with the polls opening at 6 a. m. and closing at sun down at 7:19 p. m. It is expected a large vote will be cast by the Democrats on account of several contests for county offices and on account of the efforts being made to get out as many votes as possible. The Republican primary vote is not expected to be as heavy as there are only two contests for county offices and on account of the apparent lack of interest in the primary. The weather forecast is fair tonight and tomorrow.

The Democratic primary race between Breckinridge Long and Senator Reed is being watched all over the country. It is expected the Democrats in the state will poll nearly a 300,000 vote, or nearly double what it was in 1920.

Both Democrats and Republicans should come out and select honest and capable candidates. Under the law Democrats can not cast Republican ballots tomorrow, neither can Republicans cast Democratic ballots. Such violation of law would not be tolerated. It is of great importance that the rural voters of both parties come to the primary and vote in order to make assurance doubly sure that certain political machines may not be able to nominate undesirable and unworthy candidates. Every lawful voter should come to the primary.

RAIL STRIKE NOW CONSIDERED ENDED

FAVORABLE VOTE EXPECTED ON PRESIDENT'S PROPOSALS

BIG MEETINGS TOMORROW

Delegates From 148 Roads Arriving in New York for Conference—One in Chicago

Washington, July 31—Evidences multiplied in Washington that the administration considers the rail strike as good as settled. Chairman Hooper of the railway labor board who conferred with President Harding on the industrial situation announced he was leaving for Chicago immediately to make preparations for the board's work which will be confronted with in August.

Washington, July 31.—Confidence in cabinet circles is that the nationwide coal and rail strikes will end this week. Tomorrow is expected to wind up the paralyzing rail strike. Executives of 148 systems are meeting in New York and leaders of the shopmen are meeting in Chicago on that day to vote upon the acceptance of the President's peace proposals. Labor is expected to accept promptly and a majority of the executives will vote favorably so as to enable workers to return Wednesday or Thursday.

Chicago, July 31.—Members of the policy committee of the federated railway shopcrafts began arriving for tomororw's conference for labor decision on the President's plans for a settlement of the strike.

B. M. Jewell declined a prediction on the action of the policy committee or reveal details of plan of other union leaders. He indicated the shopmen's leaders favored the proposed settlement.

There was strong intimation of settlement when A. O. Wharton, labor member of the railway board, said the group rejecting the President's plan shouldered the responsibility for the continuation of the strike.

New York, July 31.—The association of the eastern railway executives, a body of thirty-five railroad presidents, hold the verdict of the President's proposals as they met in secret executive session. President Loree of the Delaware and Hudson who chided the President's intervention, presided at the meeting. The executives are not expected unanimously to agree to the compromise.

Washington, July 31. — Chairman Hooper of the railway labor board arrived in Washington for a conference with President Harding on the railwny strike situation. He declined to comment in advance of the conference other than the situation looked hopeful.

Events of Week Expected to Prove Strong Indication of How Long Cabinet Can Last.

Berlin, July 31.—The days of the Wirth government "policy of fulfillment" are numbered, in the opinion of responsible politicians here, for the events of the ensuing week are expected to prove strong indication of how long the cabinet can hold. Murmurs of revolt against the fulfillment started within the ranks of government's loyal supporters for the first time since the birth of a coalition. The government is expected to reject Premier Poincare's demand for a clearing process in connection with Allied control of German finance.

THE WEATHER

ATTRACTIVE ROOM FOR BOY

Youngster Will Appreciate Surroundings That Are Comfortable and of Good Appearance.

A boy's room needs to be practical, indestructible, convenient and boyish, says the Designer. The room should be beautiful, but it should be founded on masculinity from the start; there should be no thin curtains, frills, or any of the fragile colors; everything must be simple of line, plain and unobtrusive; things must be arranged so that every article may be kept in its place easily; the furniture, wall paper, rugs, must be designed for wear. But surely, you say, these uninteresting requirements cannot possibly result in the exciting spot that is supposed to mold a boy's character and fire his imagination.

Put nothing in the room that is not necessary; the bed, the desk, the table, three comfortable chairs, the shelves for books, the chiffonier. Of course you have some brasswork, a parchment-shaded lamp, some plain but good-looking wall lights, a few pillows covered in old yellow, blue and gray.

You may furnish it very inexpensively, or you may choose furniture quite worth while enough to warrant its presence in your son's own grown-up house some day. If your boy is quite young, you may wish a more childish room than if he were fully half-grown.

The walls of any boy's room may be papered in tan, or water-tinted in pale cream or gray (an economical finish that may be changed from year to year with little labor); any boy's mother can dye some unbleached heavy muslin a wonderful henna for window drapes; and if a more expensive tan-and-black Wilton rug cannot be afforded, a taupe linen rug surely can. A henna bedspread may spring from the same dye pot that produced the curtains, and a few copper ornaments are cheap to buy, easy to keep brilliant, but oh! so decoratively effective!

RICH SUFFER FROM BOREDOM

Woman Novelist Sees Little to Envy in Those in Possession of Great Worldly Wealth.

"You have to be poor to enjoy the flavor of life," says Kathleen Norris in explaining why the engaging heroine in "The Beloved Woman" turned down a millionaire almost-ambassador cold for a poor suitor and why Stephen Winship in "Lucretia Lombard" did not weigh wealth and an assured position against a great love.

"Poor people are never bored with life. I had lunch today," she continued, 'in a restaurant filled with rich women. Honestly, I don't think the explosion of a bomb in the room would have stirred them — they were so bored. And I thought to myself, 'You poor, pathetic parasites, putting your white-gloved hands into your gold mesh bags to pay $7.50 for a single lunch. What are you getting out of life?'

"It was the daughter of one of these women, a little girl of sixteen, whose mother found that she and a boy friend of nineteen had hired a flat together, in which—innocently enough, I believe—the two were entertaining their young friends after the theater. And when the mother asked the girl, 'You have everything—why on earth did you do such a thing as this?' the sixteen-year-old answered, wearily, 'I was so bored, mother!'"

Living on Easy Avenue.

A group of wealthy New York families finding the servant and supply problem of private houses annoying, have built on Park avenue a great $13,000,000 apartment house with apartments that range from two rooms in a bachelor apartment at $5,000 a year to 22 rooms for a nominal rental of $55,000 a year, and the tenants have all been hand-picked. As they didn't want to be bothered with employing servants they sent to France for Louis Sherry, who used to run New York's swellest restaurant in booze days, says Capper's Weekly. Now when a maid is wanted the tenant has merely to press a button and there's always one waiting to answer as promptly as a fire engine. Cooks likewise. A private household can be equipped with every possible need from a box of matches to a flunky to light them in thirty minutes.

Big Ship Heavily Insured.

The greatest insurance ever written in the American market for a single ship has been taken by the American Marine Insurance syndicates. The syndicate, which was created more than a year ago, to provide a market capable of carrying $2,500,000 risk on a single American vessel, announced that 77 members have accepted an insurance of $2,000,000 on the Leviathan on her trip from New York to Newport News. The giant liner also is insured for $2,500,000 while under repair at the southern port. Additional insurance has been written abroad. The liability which the syndicate has assumed would have been impossible without the formation of syndicates.

Badger Girls Resolve.

Pledged to accomplish at least one act of social service each semester, thirteen woman students of the University of Wisconsin have organized a woman's sociology club, to be called the Alpha Pi Epsilon. The impetus for the creation of such a club—which is encouraged by the faculty of the sociology department—came from a group of senior women specializing in sociology.

St. Joseph vs. Ravenwood

The Nave-McCord baseball team of St. Joseph defeated the Ravenwood team at Ravenwood yesterday by a score of 5 to 2. The battery for Ravenwood was Ross and Tishot and for the St. Joseph team Berger and Willis. One error was marked up against each of the teams. Ravenwood got four bases on balls and St. Joseph got six bases in this way.

Ravenwood will play Bolckow at Bolckow next Sunday.

Clearmont vs. Elmo

Clearmont cut out Elmo 7 to 0 yesterday at Clearmont before one of the largest crowds of the season. Knuckles was in good form, not allowing a hit and struck out 11 men. Lamar pitched good ball for the visitors but was accorded poor support. The fielding of Clearmont was sensational.

Clearmont plays Calista, Ia., at Lake Crabill Park, Clarinda, next Sunday. Clearmont defeated Calista, once this season by a score of 8 to 7.

The battery yesterday was Clearmont: Knuckles and Carmichael; Elmo, Lamar and Strader.

Burlington Junction vs. Clarinda

The Burlington Junction baseball team defeated for the second time this season the All Nation ball team from Clarinda yesterday on the Burlington Junction diamond. The score was 2 to 1. The game was fast and interesting and lasted until the second half of the eleventh inning when a two bagger hit by Hagey sent Monk in to home plate and ended the tie.

The battery for Burlington Junction was Monk and Hagey and for Clarinda Warner and Linrod. Burlington Junction got seven hits and Clarinda got five. Monk got ten strike outs and Warner six.

John Nash made the Clarinda score in the second inning when a sacrifice hit and an error permitted him to get home. Britton made the first Burlington Junction score in the fourth inning on a walk and an error.

In the last half of the eleventh inning Monk came to the bat and got a single, Hagey came to the bat and got a two base hit and Browning made a sacrifice fly and brought Monk in home. The last score was the only one earned run.

Burlington Junction will play Wilcox on the Wilcox field next Sunday. Both teams have a good record and it promises to be a good game.

Miss Mabel Messick of Bolckow is visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bookman as a guest of Miss Ruth Bookman.

A Far-Sighted Banker's Idea of Advertising

By Festus J. Wade

President, Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis.

Do I believe that a banker considers reputation, as developed by advertising, in extending credit? There probably are bankers who will give a negative answer to this question and believe they are giving the right answer.

But let those bankers be approached by a credit-seeking national advertiser, who has established his name, therefore a market for his goods, and see what happens. In nine cases out of ten the fact that those goods have become a household "buyword" will be the greatest factor in granting the credit.

The banker himself will have become subconsciously sold on the firm, through its consistent advertising. He wil lsay, "Oh, yes, that's a big house—well known, good reputation," etc., not realizing that it was advertising that did the work.

The next minute he may be approached by a new company, trying to make its name, and turn down the loan because too much of it is to be spent for the purpose of advertising. In the first application he has helped the big advertiser to cash in on his reputation, and in the second was depriving the newcomer of the right to build a reputation. This is only a hypothetical case, and I am glad to say I don't believe it happens as often as it did in the past. Just as we learn something new every day, so every day another banker wakes up to the underlying power and pull of advertising.

RIDE PILLION ON MOTORCYCLE

Fair Riders Said to Be Deserting Saddle Horses for the Faster-Gaited Machine.

Have you seen the "pillion girl"? Not the demure, coy and shrinking maiden of years gone by, who rode "side-saddle" behind her swain on horseback, but the rollicking, dare-devil knickered girl of today, perched precariously astride the extra seat on a motorcycle, bowling along the road at a 40-mile-an-hour clip.

Despite the wide dissimilarity in the style of riding, the name has persisted in England and the "pillion girls" have become so numerous in that country that recently the department on taxation and regulation of road vehicles sat in solemn conclave to decide whether the "pillion girl" is a source of danger to the general public, the New York Sun states.

It is not clear whether "general public" includes the pillion girl herself of whether the term comprises merely the motorists of the opposite sex whose eyes are unaccountably distracted from the road by the sight of a pretty girl on the rear seat of a motorcycle, flaunting graceful, silk-clad legs, her hair flying in the wind.

In any event, the committee reports there is no appreciable amount of evidence to indicate that the practice is a source of danger to the general public. They are of the opinion that no case has been made out sufficiently strong to justify the prohibition of the practice.

On this side of the Atlantic the "pillion girl" is apparently safe from molestation. In fact, each year sees an increasing number of women operating their own motorcycles.

LOSE INTEREST IN SERENADE

Masculine Spaniards Said to Have Turned From Romance to the More Prosaic Football Game.

Sad, indeed, to lovers of the picturesque is the news which comes from Seville, Spain. The serenade, from time immemorial the quintessence of romance, is passing away and will soon be known no more. Worst of all, it is being destroyed by nothing else than modern and unromantic football. This game is at present in full vogue in Spain. Everywhere young men are passionately addicted to it, in Seville as elsewhere, so that the young Sevillians have no longer time as formerly to cultivate the song, the guitar and the mandolin. Football engrosses them.

Soon one will not find a single lover capable of playing a serenade under the balcony of his Dulcinea. If Rosina opens her window Almaviva will not be there to declare to her his passion.

But lately, on Saturdays, the young Sevillians assembled and wandered through the streets of the town singing to the stars. Today they go to bed early so as to be the next morning in good form for their favorite game.

Services to Prevent Robberies.

Science, which has rendered us so many services, has now attacked a new problem. Inventors are pitilessly hunting the burglars of Paris. Many are now in search of means of defending the stores and banks against criminal attacks.

One of these most curious inventions consists of a pedal situated in the interior of the store. The burglar, if he watches the hands of the man cannot at the same time see where he puts his feet. Then the pedal starts an electrical clockwork and at the same time an illuminated plate calling for the police appears on the outside of the store. Among the other inventions there is an overcoat with a special pocket for carrying a revolver. The weapon is so placed that when the attacked person facing the burglar raises his arms, the revolver is brought into position for firing and the act of raising his hands pulls a string which discharges it.

Liner Delayed to Save Life.

The value that we set on human life today has been dramatically illustrated by an incident on the Atlantic ocean.

An explosion in the engine-room of a freight ship caused terrible injuries to the second engineer, a young man named O'Neal. There was no doctor on board, so the captain sent out wireless calls for assistance.

Seven ships replied. In six cases doctors told the captain what treatment would be likely to give the best results.

But one passenger liner did more than this; it put 150 miles out of its course and sent a lifeboat with the ship's doctor in it, who attended to the patient and then had him transferred to his ship. When the liner reached England he was comfortable and on the way to recovery.

That's It.

Mr. Wampoodle was trying to explain.

"You know what I mean. It's the play where they have the witches' cauldron."

"Witches Cauldron."

"Yeah."

"Oh, yes, I know."

"Yeah.'

"You mean the home brew scene from Macbeth."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Hubby and Wifey.

"What is that, dear?

And Now—Profit in Farming Without the Drudgery

FORDSON power makes more productive seed beds. The tractor does its work so rapidly and does so much of the heavy work of farming, that farm drudgery is passing. Expenses are reduced. Better crops are grown.

In the bringing about of this new era, the Oliver No. 7 Plow has been the working partner of the Fordson. It is so light running and so scientifically designed that its work has made it a reputation enjoyed by no other tractor plow.

It is extremely easy to handle. Depth is adjusted by moving a lever that operates a jack. So easy is this done that most drivers do not stop or slow down to make a change in the plowing depth.

The power lift is tripped by simply touching a rod which is so conviniently placed that the driver need not turn his head to operate it. There is no side draft because the plow is in perfect alignment with the tractor.

To farm the Fordson way means so small an investment that it is within easy reach of every farmer. Come in and see the Oliver No. 7 gang and you, too, will decide to farm the Fordson way.

THINK FIRST AND VOTE AFTERWARD.

It is altogether too common for men to vote upon superficial impression, petty prejudice or passing admiration, without serious thought of what may be involved in a political contest. A contest that involves more than mere men is the contest for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Voters should not lend their support either for or against Reed or Long because of personal hatred or personal admiration. Some study of what is involved should be made. What is this contest about and why is it so animated and strenuous? Back of the contest being made by Senator Reed and Breckinridge Long for a great office is a contest between principles of government and party regularity.

In this fight is the board principle of international peace. Outside of the League of Nations or an Association of Nations or whatever name specific propositions may have taken, is the one great and fundamental question, "Are we willing to co-operate with the enlightened nations of the world in an effort to disarm the world from offensive operations and to promote and preserve international peace? Do we want such co-operation, or do we not? President Wilson will go down in history as the outstanding champion of world peace. His great idea was incorporated in the compromise measure worked out in the Peace Conference and known as the League of Nations. It was wrecked by political opposition. The specific thing was wrecked in the United States Senate but there is reason to believe that the hope for permanent peace and good will among nations that existed in the former President's heart still lives in the hearts of Missouri and in the hearts of the nation.

Incidental objections to the so-called League do not harm the principle at issue. There was much sport made of and much objection to the first automobiles but the principle lived and it is universally accepted today. The hope of universal peace and ultimate disarmament still lives. Senator Reed was the bitterest foe of international co-operation in the United States Senate.

Some other fundamental principles are involved. The American people have gone dry. A determined effort is to be made to nullify the constitutional amendment by the revision of the Volstead law which is the instrument through which prohibition is enforced. Senator Reed has been a consistent opponent of dry measures. A good many people insist that the country is wet at heart and that a victory for Reed means that they want a return to the public sale of some forms of liquors. Wet men will be elected in every state where it is possible.

As an opponent of prohibition and the measures necessary to enforce it and as an opponent of measures to bring about international agreements for permanent peace, he naturally opposed the entrance of women into politics. He opposed suffrage for women. He stands upon his record, does not apologize for any of it and believes it should be endorsed by the people at the coming election.

He does not believe in taking orders even from those who created him a senator. His position as a United States Senator was the gift of the people of Missouri. He was nominated and elected by Democratic votes. In 1920, the Democratic voters of Missouri in regular convention assembled voiced their opposition to his course in Congress. They approved the great principle embodied in President Wilson's peace proposal. Though his commission to represent the State of Missouri in the Senate of the United States came from the Democracy of this state he refused to bow to the will of the majority and still refuses to accept their verdict as his.

Instead, he appealed his case to the San Francisco convention where his case was lost by an overwhelming majority. He now makes a final appeal back to the people who made him. He virtually says to his creators, "I know better than all of you combined. You must admit it by voting to send me back." The country needs men of independent thought who are willing to think for themselves and to be corrected when wrong but does the Democratic party of Missouri need a man to tell it what it believes? Is it possible for a man to outgrow his party and to become greater than his creator?

These are some of the things involved in this senatorial campaign. Your answer will be registered tomorrow. Let your conscience be your guide.

Among the numerous means attempted to play upon public prejudice in the senatorial campaign, none has been more unjustly abused than the charge of great wealth. Breckinridge Long is lucky enough to have a comfortable income. His wife owns some preferred stock in a paper company that pays about 7 per cent. She owns only a minority interest and Mr. Long could not possibly be rated as a millionaire. His means are limited and neither he nor his friends have spent any large sums in the campaign. Senator Reed is not a millionaire either. Neither is he in straitened circumstances. He has enjoyed for the past twelve years a salary of $7,500 per year together with about $500 for mileage and stationery. In addition to this Senator Reed has continued to practice law and has had some big cases during the time he has been serving the government as senator. In the St. Joseph, Kansas City and Clay County Railway case alone he was allowed a contingent fee of more than $70,000. He has had many other important cases and is not suffering for the necessities of life at all. In addition to this, he has many wealthy friends such as William R. Hearst, the Busch interests, Sam Lazarus and others who do not hesitate to contribute money liberally. So all talk about excessive wealth is out of place. If Long actually has more money of his own than Reed, Reed has been as close to certain men of great wealth as it is possible to get. Each man ought to be considered on his merits.

Fame and fortune are fickle friends. A few years ago a prize fighter known as "Battling Nelson" had the world's attention. He was the world's lightweight champion. The sporting world was at his feet and fame and fortune were his. This was only a few years ago. He lost his fame when some other bruiser took his championship from him and he did not conserve his fortune. This week he wanted to see the Leonard-Tendler fight for the championship that used to be his so he crawled in under the stands in the afternoon and sneaked into a press seat when the performance began. He was discovered and thrown out just like any other bum. It's great to have fame and it's mighty nice to have fortune, but, when one lets them get away he becomes common clay in the eyes of the world and mighty common at that.

News from Washington and Chicago, center of conferences on the strike situation, continue to bring hopes of an early adjustment of the differences between railroads and shopmen. Five weeks have now passed and it is certainly to be hoped that a satisfactory adjustment can be made before another week passes.

W. A. Miller left yesterday for a two weeks trip through Colorado, Utah and Yellowstone Park. He will also visit in Gardner, Minn., before he returns.

Produce Review

Butter production is still running large, indicating good pasturage conditions and a large number of milk cows on the farms. The demand for butter for consuming purposes is heavy, which is maintaining the market at about recent levels. The amount going into storage also is heavier than for the same period a year ago.

Egg values have worked materially lower in the past week, especially in the large cities, due to some accumulation, as dealers evidently are not interested in storing any further quantities, on account of the unusually heavy stocks now in warehouses. The present lower values if passed on to the consumer should bring about very heavy demand with healthier conditions.

The marketing of live fouls is still running heavy, indicating that the supply available is large. Prices are working lower.

The increased offering of spring chickens is having the effect of reducing prices in the large consuming centers, and the prospects are that on account of the heavy crop prices will be on a conservative basis.

For Prosecuting Attorney

In submitting my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Prosecuting Attorney, I do so in the sincere hope that it will meet a friendly welcome and receive a kind response. I am profoundly grateful to the people for the honor they have conferred upon me. I have honestly endeavored to serve them to the very best of my ability and invite an investigation of my official record. I sincerely trust my conduct of the office has been such as to justify your confidence in me in the past; and may I not hope to have your confidence and support in my contest for renomination? I have been unable to visit personally as many as I should like to have done, because I have been kept busy in the office. Nevertheless, I earnestly solicit your support AUGUST 1st. I assure you I shall greatly appreciate it and shall hold you in grateful recollection for it.

Sincerely and cordially yours,

Charles F. McCaffrey

William E. Spratt for CONGRESS

The two great political parties will on August 1 have a meeting of the stockholders of their institutions. They are going to select their candidates for the various offices. They each desire to build the strongest and best ticket possible. Remember this, and don't forget it. There probably has not been held in recent years a more important meeting of the citizens of Missouri than will be held on August 1.

William E. Spratt

There are a great many people who believe that William E. Spratt will add more strength to the ticket and make it more easy to elect in the fall than any other man in the District. Platte County has always been behind him. He is strong in the city of St. Joseph, and in Buchanan County.

He has been a successful business man who along with his private interests has always had the time and has taken a keen interest in politics. He has a wide personal acquaintance in every county in the District. He is an untiring worker. He is modest and reserved in nature. He accomplishes a purpose in a quiet way without noise and bluster. His friends swear by him.

Just a word of caution. Do not let sentiment guide you entirely. We are going into a tremendous big business deal. The country has more at stake than ever before. The Democrats believe they are right. What we need now is the proper men in Congress to put this country back to normaley. Friends of Bill Spratt all over the District are willing to back him to the limit.

Only Two Months Gasoline Supply Actually Stored

MUCH has been said during the past few weeks respecting the vast amount of gasoline in storage, and many have drawn conclusions from these statements which are not justified by the facts.

It is true that there is a fairly large storage on hand but when this storage is set against the consumption its relative size diminishes rapidly.

Between January 1 and June 1 the storage of gasoline was increased about 270,000,000 gallons, while the monthly consumption increased but 224,000,000 gallons; but during June the consumption was largely increased while the storage remained stationary.

During the past six weeks storage has decreased, as was to be expected, and this decrease will continue until late in the fall. Here are the most recent statistics taken from the reports of the U. S. Bureau of Mines:

Gasoline Consumption, Jan. 1922 -	274,844,808 "
Gasoline Stocks, June 1, 1922 - -	856,607,102 "
Gasoline Consumption, May, 1922	499,242,343 "

The June consumption figures compiled by the Bureau of Mines are not yet available but we know from our own records that consumption is making heavy inroads into stocks.

Even at the present rate of consumption there is not to exceed 60 days supply in storage, which for this time of the year is abnormally low. Reports from refining areas indicate that refineries all over the country are being run to capacity, and we do not anticipate a gasoline shortage though predictions to that effect are being made.

It has always been the practice of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to operate its refineries to as near capacity as possible during the months of low consumption in order that it might have on hand adequate supplies during periods of great consumption.

Only a large and efficiently organized company can provide facilities which insure service regardless of demand. It is because the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always is working, months in advance, that it can promise at all times a steady, constant, dependable service.

TEND TO STARVE THE BRAIN

Writer Warns of Pernicious Effects That May Be Exercised by the Stiff Collar.

We are once more threatened with the stiff, tight, pre-war collar. Doctors have repeatedly warned parents against the dangers of allowing their sons to wear collars of this type.

It is pointed out that the wearing of high, stiff, tight collars retards the flow of blood to the brain, and thus starves the brain cells, says London Tit-Bits.

The result of this brain starvation is that the wearer becomes lethargic, and stupid and dull in his school work. His brain is not up to the tasks it is required to perform; he becomes indifferent to his studies, and will pore over his books in a semi-dazed manner. Often, too, he will take less interest in athletics, and this tends to reduce his vitality and mental activity.

Although the effect of wearing a high, stiff collar is not so noticeable in the case of an adult, it is not good for the general health, and also leads to colds.

The old-fashioned stiff collar with turned-down corners is still worn by Doctor Chamberlain, while for years Lloyd George has worn a kind of Gladstone collar, but without the gap at the throat.

Bernard Shaw has always denounced the starched collar as an abomination. Many other famous men especially literary and artistic celebrities, have worn soft collars. Byron always wore a style of his own—soft, wide open.

JOYS ARE BUT TRANSITORY

Delectable Perfumes Will Not Long Gladden the Prisoner in Cleveland County Jail.

Attar of roses and sweet scents of Araby! There's an electric perfumer at the county jail. It casts all kinds of sweetness on the prison air. Just turn the button and the jail becomes a garden of roses or fragrant with the scent of orange blossoms.

The other day the atmosphere of the jail reflected the aroma of the forest cedar. It might have been Norway pine, sassafras, crab apple blossom, but it just happened that the perfumer was charged to dispense an aroma tinged with forest cedar.

The machine has possibilities, the sheriff believes. It might be employed to awaken the prisoners each morning with scents of violets and soothe them at breakfast with odors of ham, eggs, corn fritters, grapefruit and other viands not on the regular morning menu of coffee and butterless bread.

Oh, yes, indeed, the machine has possibilities. If it was charged with a few quarts of hootch confiscated in raids, why, the old jail would be one of the most popular breathing places in the county.

At night it could discharge the odor of pineapple or figs or dates, and any prisoner with a good sense of smell and a strong imagination could readily go to sleep and feel that he was in Hawaii.

Timber Far Ahead.

What of their timber assets in the national forests? They contain 563 billion feet of standing timber, or twenty-five per cent of the remaining timber in the United States, says the American Forestry Magazine. All told the national forests embrace seventeen per cent of all forest growing land in the United States. In addition to the many millions of acres containing forests of merchantable size, there are twenty million acres bearing young growing forests which are being protected against fire and other forms of devastation so that they will produce timber crops in the years ahead. The American Forestry association calls on the owners, the citizens, to protest against taking the control of these forests from the United States forest service.

Linotype Laughs.

C. D. Gibson of Life has a choice collection of newspaper misprints, some of which are screams. At a dinner in New York he quoted a number of them. One was about a bishop who was laid up with a cold. A newspaper reported that he was "confined to the house with a violent scold."

Another told of a "surgeon" being taken alive in the river and being sold for six cents a pound. But the most amusing one, he said, was clipped from a Vermont paper. This paper, wishing to say in praise of a very aged and distinguished citizen that he was "a noble old burgher proudly living in his native state," was made to say, according to Mr. Gibson, "John Green is a nobby old burglar, prowling around in a naked state."—Boston Transcript.

Rural Development.

"I understand you are going to make some improvements on the old place?"

"Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel. "Development is goin' along mighty fast an' I've got to keep up with it."

"What kind of improvements are you going to make?"

"I haven't made up my mind yet whether to put up a new barn or an apartment house."—Washington Star.

MAYOR ROBINSON HEADS LAW ENFORCEMENT ORGANIZATION

Chosen at Combined Men's Meeting Yesterday Morning to Fill Place Of G. B. Roseberry

Mayor Fred P. He will fill the place of G. B. Roseberry, who was elected when the organization was made last Sunday but who declined the office.

The purpose of the organization is that of helping the officers to enforce the law. It is to give its attention especially to the work of enforcing the prohibition. W. S. Foreman, assistant superintendent of the State Anti-Saloon League, spoke at the meeting.

Mr. Foreman spoke during the regular preaching service hour at the First Christian Church and W. F. Each of the men spoke in interest of law enforcement, especially the enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Vote for George P. Shoptaugh

HAD HEARD IT ALL BEFORE

Mr. Pester's Pessimism Interrupted by Memories of His Grandfather's Remarks Concerning Time's Trend.

"This boasted progress of ours is mere illusion," grimly said old Festus Pester. "Corruption permeates our entire social fabric. Selfishness has supplanted generosity. The process of disintegration is going on at an alarming rate. Our sole god has come to be money. Vice is tolerated, and we make obeisance by hypocrisy. Patriotism has disappeared. Waste and idleness abound. Humanity is decaying at heart. Criminality, moral obliquity, class hatred, the destruction of the family sentiment, pessimism and skepticism are evident on every side; and so on and so forth.

"In fact, I would mention that a crisis is at hand, and also that it is a pretty kettle of fish, if I did not recall that my venerable grandfather held practically the same opinion of the world and his fellow men at his stage of the game and there are still in existence letters written by his grandfather wherein is set forth a like estimate of the folks and affairs of his day, and there is a tradition to the effect that his ancestors felt the same way about their own times and associates. And very likely I might run for office on the strength of the awful condition of everything if I hadn't always been fairly respectable and reasonably able to earn an honest living."—Kansas City Star.

KNEW MUCH OF SANITATION

During a protracted stay in Arabia and other parts of the Near East, Col. W. G. Archer of Evansville, Ind., master plumber and field agent of the National Association of Master Plumbers, made a study of ancient sanitation equipment. He returned to the United States only a few months ago and was in this city recently, says a San Antonio correspondent.

"We prate of our great civilization and we discount the ancients, because we know next to nothing of their methods or their customs," Colonel Archer said. "I found bathtubs made of onyx in Babylon and evidence of tubs made of metal and various other kinds of stone. They are identical with those of to-day, with the same openings for letting water in and for letting it out. The Babylonians had sanitation, plumbing and bath facilities practically as we have them to-day.

"I knew a number of Englishmen who are 'digging' in the ruins of the island of Crete, and I recently received pictures of vitrified bathtubs and toilet fixtures that they have unearthed there."

Traces of Old Civilization.

Five miles from Dartford, England, on the old Dover road the modern road-makers are making great discoveries. Just ahead of them is a Roman camp. Under their feet are traces of Celtic, even earlier, civilization.

The biggest find so far has been the skeleton of a woman, six feet three inches in height, crouched with hands clasped in a praying attitude. Clearly not a Roman burial, for the pose is Celtic and there was no trace of a coffin. The skeleton lay where the body was placed, in a hole cut in the solid chalk.

The road makers are keeping careful watch for more of these "finds." Already they have accumulated portions of a Roman tesselated pavement, some characteristic ornaments of the period, and other signs that the area covered by the camp is being approached.

Many Visit Forests.

Value of the national forests for recreation is increasing by leaps and bounds. Six million people visit the forests annually to camp, fish, hunt, hike, motor or rest, from all parts of the United States, says the American Forestry Magazine. Recreational use of these forests represents possibly less than 1 per cent of their total potential use. The rapid increase in the number of people deriving pleasure from the forests is due in large part to their recreational development by the forest service. Over a thousand campgrounds have been set apart and posted and recreational permits have been issued for over 6,000 summer homes, cabins, hotels and club houses.

Sure He Will Find Treasure.

An Irish farmer risked his all on a field of two acres near Mullinger, which, in the ordinary way, would have brought about $200. After brisk bidding he paid $2,000 for it. The farmer who has become the new owner expended his life's savings on its acquisition. He declares his intention of digging over the whole acreage in search of treasure. Some time ago a box was dug up in the field, and was found to contain some Spanish gold coins and a map, believed to indicate the hiding place of more treasure in the field.

They Heard Him.

Brother had the habit of asking for something to eat wherever he happened to be at a neighbor's house, so his mother told him he must never do such a thing again.

The next time he returned from a visit to the neighbor's she asked him if he had begged for anything to eat.

"No," he said, "I was just talking to myself about how hungry I was, and they heard me."

Both City and State Charges Were Filed Against Him on Liquor Charges

William M. McVicker, South Market street was arrested Saturday evening by Ed Wallace upon a charge of possessing and transporting intoxicating liquor. A pint of corn liquor was found in his possession, which according to the officials is the best that has been found in this part of the county.

He was released upon a $1,000 bond for his appearance in police court at 10 o'clock Wednesday. After his arrest by the city authorities, Sheriff Roach searched his house and a state charge was filed against McVicker. He was released on this charge on $300 bond for his appearance in the September term of court. Sheriff Roach found a jug of liquor in the house.

DR. HEPBURN SAYS IT IS ALWAYS MAY TIME

He Believes That Phrase "They Were Tempted" Applies same as in Olden Days

The Bible phrase "They were tempted" will apply to everyone in Maryville, according to Dr. Henry Hepburn, who spoke yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Hepburn is pastor of the Buena Memorial Church of Chicago and was the pastor under whom the Rev. S. P. Allison was ordained.

Dr. Hepburn said that people get the idea that since they are not tempted by the various things now days which are spoken of in the Bible that the Bible stories no longer apply. He says that we are tempted just as surely today as in days of old. One of the temptations is that of staying away from church on Sunday evenings.

"It is May time" is another phrase which Dr. Hepburn dwelt on. It is always the time of our lives for sowing. It is always spring time when we may do good deeds that may help the future generations. Keep the idea that it is May time always and we will get the most from life.

Dr. Hepburn did not speak at the evening services, owing to the fact that it was the last service at which the Rev. S. P. Allison would have a chance to speak before he goes on his vacation.

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank J. Mapel of Maryville received a card today from Miss Emily Stapleton of Albany, who is a sister of Editor Jack Stapleton of the Stanberry Owl-Headlight. Miss Stapleton is touring Europe and in a card sent from Oberamumergau writes.

"How I wish you might have been with us yesterday at Oberamumergau. It is indeed a marvelous production. This is the most unique village one could imagine. Our trip is full of interest constantly.

SKIDMORE FARMER FIGHTING SQUASH BUGS

Harry K. Bunny, Charles McDaniel, Burman Wright and Joseph Leeman, west of Skidmore, were in Maryville Saturday. Mr. Bunny was confering with Roy A. He took two and a half pounds of nico dust back with him to fight the squash bugs.

Had Hail Storm

Clarksdale had a severe hail storm Saturday afternoon about four o'clock One stone measured nine and three-quarter inches in circumference according to word received by the Rev. Frank J. Mapel of Maryville. Clarksdale is twelve miles from Maysville in DeKalb County. There was a community picnic held at that town at the time of the storm.

Will Attend Institute

The Rev. Frank J. Mapel, presiding elder, will attend a two-days Sunday School institute of the Gallatin district of the Missouri conference of the M. E. Church, South, which will be held at Hill's Chapel, near Albany. The noon and evening meals will be served at the church, and a great time will be had by the Sunday school forces of the Gallatin district.

At Los Angeles, Mr. Grems and daughter were entertained by his aunt, Mrs. Carrie Sanborn, who formerly lived in Maryville. Mr. Colden, who is president of the Chamber of Commerce at San Pedro, had Mr. Grems as his guest at one of the dinners of the Chamber. Mr. Colden introduced Mr. Grems as "one of my Republican friends from Missouri." On the return trip back to Maryville they visited in San Francisco, Ogden and Omaha.

RURAL SCHOOLS URGED TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 4

Boards Should See to the Repairing of the Building and Outbuilding And Painting

County Superintendent Leslie G. Somerville has sent out the following letter to the district clerk of each school district relative to the opening of school on Monday, September 4:

To the District Clerk:

It is recommended that all schools open on Monday, Sept. 4, 1922, in order that all pupils be prepared for the examination, it is important that they follow the course of study with uniformity, which necessitates beginning at the same time. If you have not secured a teacher, notify us and we shall be glad to assist you.

The board should do all repairing of the building ,outbuildings, papering and painting at this time. It is a matter of economy to keep the school house and outbuildings painted and adds much to their appearance. Please place the name and number of your district on school building where it can be plainly seen. If the walls are dingy or ditry, by all means paper, paint or give them a coat of alabastine which costs almost nothing but cleans the walls and gives them a good tint. The desks should be cleaned out and washed and perhaps painted.

I am enclosing to you suggestions of the sanitary pitt toilet recommended by Dr. C. P. Fryer, Field Agent H. S. P. H. S. and County Health Officer. It will cost but very little to improve your toilets by making them conform to the enclosed suggestion and I am very anxious for you to consider this in your fall improvements. In case you cannot do this, please get a keg of air slacked lime and leave at the school house and have the teacher throw a handful into the toilets two or three times a week to keep odor down and prevent breeding of flies. This is very necessary for the health of the children.

By all means, see that your well is cleaned out and the water made perfectly pure and wholesome. Poor water means sickness and often death. We dare not risk the lives of the children for a few dollars.

Unless your well is where the children can drink at the pump, a water jar with a faucet must be provided. I hope, too, that your school can install a modern heating and ventilating plant this year unless you already have one.

Please do not order books and supplies from agents for you or your teacher can order them at a saving of 50 to 100 per cent.

I wish to thank you for your cooperation of the past year and I am counting upon you again this year. If, at any time, I can be of assistance to you, be free to call upon me."

Miss Iola Eidelman of Bolckow is visiting for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Welling on North Mulberry street.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wilkenshaw of Orrsburg announce the birth of a son yesterday. They will call him Roy William, Jr.

FEARED BAD LUCK PERIODS

The Aztec calendar consisted of a year of 18 months of 20 days each, and a closing period of five days, into which it was believed all the bad luck of the year was crowded. No one started upon a journey during these five days, for fear some misfortune would befall him; no woodcutter ventured into the forest to hew wood during this period, lest wild beasts should devour him; the houses were left unswept; the housewives made no pottery vessels; children so unfortunate as to be born on one of these five days were by that very fact predestined to misfortune for the rest of their lives.

The next, and among the Aztecs the only time period higher than the year, was the xihuitlmolpia, or cycle of 52 years. It was held that at the close of one of these periods would some day come the destruction of the world.

On the last night of the xihuitl molpia fires were extinguished on the hearths, and the inhabitants of Tenochtitlah (City of Mexico) moved out of the city and took up positions on the surrounding hills, waiting feverishly either for the destruction of the world or, in the event of sunrise, the dawn of another xihuitlmolpia. Once the sun had arisen, however, great were the rejoicings. Fires were rekindled and the crisis was over for another 52 years.

NONE CAN EXPLAIN "AURORA"

Northern Lights Said to Be Due to Passage of Electricity Through the Air.

The aurora borealis (or northern lights) is occasionally seen in the north temperate zone and frequently in the polar regions. It is said to be due to the passage of electricity through the rarefied air of the arctic zone. The name "aurora borealis" was first used by Cassendi, who, in 1621, observed one in France, and wrote a description of it. The "aurora" is periodic in its manifestations, the finest displays being at intervals of 60 years, and less marked ones at intervals of 10 or 11 years. It is also asserted that these greater and lesser displays correspond with the increase and decrease of spots on the sun. The phenomenon is generally manifested in the following way: A dim light appears on the horizon shortly after twilight, and gradually assumes the shape of an arch, having a pale yellow color, with its concave side turned earthward. From this arch streams of light shoot forth, passing from yellow to green and then to brilliant violet. The name aurora australis (or southern lights) is applied to a similar phenomenon visible in the vicinity of the South pole.

When Joking Is Dangerous.

Husbands should be careful how they spring jokes at the table. And wives should be alert on guard against the consequences of a surprise that amounts to a shock in certain cases—such as that at New York recently, for instance.

Men who toss off jokes at the table and cause their wives to laugh so suddenly that they pull a piece of meat into the trachea and choke to death have a grave responsibility. Of course, the habitual joker who gets a fresh stock every week runs no such risks. His wife is immune to laughter at his "funny cracks," and stands in no danger.

But fellows who are pleasant only once in a long time, and who "pull a joke" perhaps twice in a lifetime, should time their efforts so that their wives have not a mouthful of meat handy to pull into their windpipes. For that is not what windpipes are for, and they resent intrusion of solids.—Exchange.

Joke on Famous Composer.

A certain newly rich person with more money than culture called on M. Massenet and said that he had seen his photograph in a paper and had read that he was "a clever pianist." Would M. Massenet play a few pieces at a little party? He would be well paid of course!

The world-famous musician was greatly amused. "Certainly!" he replied. "What night?" "Thursday." "Thursday? What a pity! I am engaged on Thursday. But I can give the address of a friend—an excellent pianist, who can play all the modern dances beautifully."

So saying, Massenet gave the unfortunate newly rich the address of—Saint-Saens! Obviously the victim of Massenet's joke had never heard of Saint-Saens, for he called on the distinguished composer and was promptly kicked out. Saint-Saens brooded over the insult for some hours before he saw the joke.

Belong in High Places.

As with the evergreens so it is with all trees that dare the heights. Some, like the hemlocks, remain far below. The little gray birches stop in the pastures of the foothills. The high, clear air of the range is not for them. The yellow birches fare on to the lower slopes of the big hills. There they quit; but the canoe birches go on. The great trees of the lower reaches of the bowlder path are these, their paper-white bark showing through all lark woods of the north. Then climb valiantly. It is as if the trees were thrilled with that eager desire to reach the summit which possesses all mountaineers.

TWO BIG SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETINGS

churches. While the conferences were going on Dan R. Baker made a talk.

After the divisional sessions another combined session was held. Miss Blanche Dow, head of the department of dramatics at the State Teachers College spoke on the value of the Pageant in the teaching of children in the Sunday schools. She said that the children would get a better idea of the Bible characters and the things that they did in this way than perhaps in any other. It also interests both the young and the older folks of the Sunday schools. And in order to get the Pageant carried out in the church it is in no way necessary to bring in the undesirable elements of the theatre or to detract from the sanctity of the church.

S. P. Allison, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Maryville, told of the Daily Vacation Bible School and of the session that was conducted in Maryville this summer. Mr. Allison said that the movement had been on since 1910. He told of how the children learn thoroughly the Bible and of the many things they are able to tell about it when they have finished a session. He said that Maryville hoped to be able to accommodate 200 in its school next year and suggested that it would be possible to conduct such a school in Wilcox. It would perhaps be possible to have a class of some twenty or thirty about Wilcox. Mr. Allison said that it was a great joy to one to conduct such a school.

Mrs. Ellis Cook spoke on the graduation day for pupils in the Sunday schools. This day comes the last Sunday in September in some of the schools and on the first Sunday in October in others. She urged that the various Sunday schools of the district observe the day and that they promote their pupils to the different departments.

At the close of the day came the election of officers and the installation The officers were as follows: President, C. C. Leeson; vice-president, Miss Hazel Sheridan; treasurer, Martin Lewis, Jr.; children's division superintendant, Mrs. Ellis Cook; superintendent for boys, T. H. Leet; superintendent for girls, Mrs. Blane Archer; adult and home superintendent, Fred French; administration superintendent, Leslie G. Somerville.

The county officers compliment and thank the people of Wilcox for the warm welcome they showed the district in having the convention at Wilcox. They had erected a good platform and had a piano on it for the speakers and the musicians. The benches from the church had been moved out under the trees, where the platform was. The crowd was comfortable, in spite of the heat. Many people heard the program as they sat near the stand in their motor cars. Arrangements were made by Clint Adams and Burl Mitchell.

Music was furnished by the Gaugh string orchestra and by the combined orchestra of the Sunday schools. It was one of the big features of the meeting.

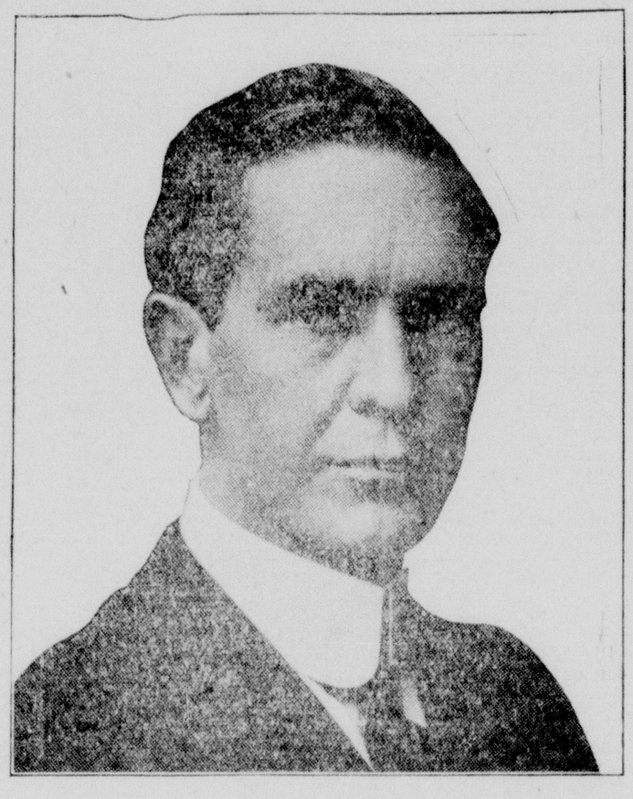
Breckenridge Long for United States Senator



On the eve of the present primary election campaign the Breckinridge Long-for-Senator Committee of Nodaway County desires to address this public appeal to the Democratic voters of Nodaway County to VOTE at the primary election tomorrow and to cast their ballots for Breckinridge Long for United States Senator as against Senator James A. Reed.

In the primary election two years ago, in a field of six candidates Breckinridge Long was nominated by a vote of over 21,000 more than his nearest adversary, Charles M. Hay. In the general election that fall (1920), Long, as the Democratic nominee for United States Senator received 8,782 votes more than Atkinson, the Democratic candidate for Governor, and 41,699 more votes than Cox, the Democratic candidate for President. The majority against Breckinridge Long for Senator was 20,700 less than the majority of Harding against Cox, and 19,641 less than the majority of Hyde against Atkinson. We call attention to these figures to refute the statement often made by supporters of Senator Reed during the present primary campaign that Breckinridge Long will be unable to marshal the strength of his party behind him if nominated. Against opposition in his own party, and in spite of the discontent attendant upon the economic adjustment incident to returning from a war basis to a peace basis, Breckinridge Long made a courageous fight as the nominee of the Democratic party and stood out head and shoulders above all the other Democratic candidates in this State as measured by the vote at the election.

On the other hand, what claim has Senator Reed to preferment by the Democratic voters of this county? He is now a candidate for renomination as United States Senator for a third term. When he made his first contest for the nomination in 1910 against ex-Governor David R. Francis he ran on a platform of party regularity. He assailed Francis because the latter had voted for Palmer and Buckner in 1896. He told the voters that HE had never stabbed his party in the back or ambushed it from the rear. What is his record now?

During almost the entire period of his last term of office, covering the last six years, he has probably done more to undermine his party than all the Republican opposition in the United States Senate.

(1) He obstructed the passage of the Federal Reserve Bank Act.

(2) He opposed the Selective Service Law, but finally voted for it.

(3) He assailed the Food Administration continuously and persistently throughout the administration of President Wilson, but when the self-same Herbert S. Hoover, Food Administrator, was elevated to the Cabinet by President Harding, Reed's voice was silent and no protest came from him.

(4) He condoned the sinking of the Lusitania and the invasion of Belgium. In a speech to a German society in St. Louis on October 11, 1916, he said:

> "She struck out blindly, too recklessly, and injured the innocent bystander. There is a difference between the man who injures an innocent bystander and the man who invades your home to commit murder."
>
> "These people are not assassins, and no King, Kaiser or power could ever force the German people into a mere marauding expedition having for its object national loot. You may cry Belgium! Was Belgium not invaded? I answer, yes; but Belgium was not invaded for robbery; she was overrun because she lay in the path Germany believed she must tread if she succeeded in the mighty contest she was waging with France."

(5) He made a speaking tour of Wisconsin in aid of a Republican and in opposition to a Democratic candidate for the United States Senate. Read what Mr. John P. Hume, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Wisconsin stated in writing:

> "I can say to you that Reed gave all the aid in his power in Wisconsin to defeat the Democratic nominee for United States Senator, whom we honestly believed would be elected."

(6) In a speech at Salisbury, Missouri, he referred to President Wilson as a man going about the country braying like a long eared animal. When this charge was first made he denied it, whereupon some fifteen reputable citizens of Salisbury who had been in his audience and heard his speech came forward and made an affidavit that he had uttered in substance the language attributed to him.

(7) Within the last few weeks he has received the indorsement of the German-American Alliance in National Conference at Chicago, aided and abetted by men whose disloyalty to the United States Government during the great war was officially recognized.

(8) He voted against prohibition.

(9) He voted against the maternity bill.

(10) He bitterly opposed woman's suffrage.

Remember these are not last-minute campaign canards. So flagrant had Senator Reed's conduct become that three years ago in a township mass meeting in the Court House in Maryville resolutions were adopted and telegraphed to Senator Reed admonishing him to uphold the National Democratic Administration and to heed the wishes of his constituents who had so often honored him. Two years ago in a Democratic Convention held in Maryville to nominate delegates to the Democratic State Convention at Joplin, Reed was denounced and the delegation from this county was instructed to vote against him both as a delegate at large and as a district delegate to the National Democratic Convention at San Francisco. The State Convention at Joplin overwhelmingly repudiated him, but notwithstanding this he went to San Francisco and attempted to force his admittance into the Convention as a district delegate from Jackson County.

In the face of a record like this how can the Democratic party of this state justify itself or explain its conduct in nominating Senator Reed for a third term? It is said that Reed is an able man. He is, and so are Johnson, Borah, and LaFollette, but are they YOUR kind of able men, as a Democrat? If you are wet and place this issue above party loyalty, vote for Reed. If you think the Democratic party should turn its back on its record of accomplishment during the eight-year period when the greatest war in history occurred, vote for Reed; but if you believe in the Democracy of the fathers,

Vote for Breckenridge Long for United States Senator

(Paid for by friends of Breckinridge Long).
